Recording Basics

- What you'll need:
- Computer
- Software - Digital Audio Workstation ("DAW")
- Audio interface and/or MIDI interface
- Microphone and/or instrument

✓ Cross-Platform (Mac + Windows)

DAW	What it's best for
Pro Tools	Industry standard for studio tracking, film/TV post, large session recording
Ableton Live	Electronic music, looping, live performance, beat-based writing
Cubase	Strong MIDI + composition tools, big with film composers
Reaper	Lightweight, customizable, insanely cheap for what it can do
Studio One	Very fast workflow, great all-around producer's DAW

🍏 Mac-Only

DAW	Notes
Logic Pro	Most popular among Mac users for songwriting, production, and mixing
GarageBand	Beginner-friendly, preinstalled, fast sketchpad for demos

☰ Windows-Only

DAW	Notes
FL Studio	Major EDM/hip-hop presence, pattern-based workflow
Cakewalk by BandLab	Full-featured and free, old SONAR lineage
